New York To Give Horses Mercy Death

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(P)—
Fifty-seven horses, property of New York city's street cleaning department, are to be destroyed tomorrow.
The animals were found to be too old for work and many of them so diseased or crippled that they were in constant pain.
Motor-propelled vehicles are supplementing horses in the department. Two years ago there were 2,000 horses in use. Today there are less than 500.

This winter 11 busses will be operated between Jacksonville and Miami. The four to be put into service now will maintain a 12-hour service from each of the two cities.

The Georgia-Florida Motor Lines is a subsidiary of the Colonial Lines and operates busses from Macon, Augusta, Tallahassee and Charleston and Savannah, the last two cities being on the same route.

Masons Want Churches To Let Schools Alone

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 26.—(A)—
Denial of the right of any church or ecclesiastic power to control or supervise the free public school system of the United States or the educational system of any state or nation was contained in a resolution adopted here today by the supreme council of the 33rd degree of Scottish Rite Masonry for the southern jurisdiction.

The same resolution stated opposition to the expenditure of public funds for the use, support or maintenance of sectarian educational institutions, and condemned "the effort of any foreign power which seeks to disturb or overthrow the peace and harmony of our citizenship."

It declared the recent encyclical letter promulgated by Pope Pius XI, head of the Roman Catholic church contained a "shrewdly concealed, but none the less bold and violent, attack upon the fundamental principles underlying the free public school system of education of the United States."

The council left to Masonic grand lodges throughout the United States decision as to celebrating in 1332 the 200th anniversary of the birthday of George Washington.

Delegates planned to leave for Austin tonight.

American Gunboats Shelled by Chinese

SHANGHAI, Sept. 26.—(P)—Two American gunboats fought their way through barrages of artillery fire laid down by Chinese reds at different places along the middle Yangtse river last night and today, silencing the heavy attacks and escaping undam-

As in previous cases the American vessels were subjected to fire from shore as they patrolled that section of the river which has been infested with pirates and other marauders for months.

with pirates and other marauders for months.

The U. S. S. Guam fought an artillery duel with a battery of field guns hidden along the shore 190 miles above Hankow. The Guam opened up with her three-inch guns amid a shower of cannon fire and then brought machine guns into play. The attack stopped and the Guam proceeded unscathed.

Proceeding down the river the U. S. S. Oahu ran into a battery of red field guns a few miles above Kiukiang. The marauders raked the river with heavy fire. Speeding up her engines and bringing her machine guns into action, the Oahu raced to safety. She peppered the shore-line with bullets, silencing the shore battery.

Loan Sharks Invaide Atlanta, Sage Official Discloses

Unsung Heroes Named SLOT MACHINE CASE in Fight Against New SLOT MACHINE CASE King of Racketeering.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 26 .- (Special.)-Racketeering has gained new recruits in the field of high-rate money-lending and has invaded Atlanta among other cities, Leon Henderson, director of the department of remedial loans of the Russell Sage Foundation, told the members of the American Association of Personal Finance Companies, here today at their convention luncheon.

Foundation, told the members of the American Association of Personal Finance Companies, here today at their convention luncheon.

Discussing the subject of the year's progress in personal finance, Mr. Henderson disclosed the efforts that these racketeers whom he describes as "loan sharks" are making to break down the uniform small loan law adopted by 24 states. By attacks upon the constitutionality of the law and by lobby methods in legislative halls they have sought to accomplish their purpose, he stated. Fortunately, however, they have met with little success thus far, due to the vigilance of those commercial and philanthropic organizations that have combated them, he added.

"Organized Racket."

"Loan sharkery, at the present time," said Mr. Henderson, "is organized racketeering. Few people realize the full extent of the vicious, methodical attacks of loan sharks on regulatory legislation.

"At present there are loan shark chains operating with headquarters in Chicago, Milwaukee, Memphis, Louisville and Atlanta. These foes of organization in a desperate effort to protect their racket.

Attacks on Law.

"Did you know that since your 1 to convention there had been constitutional attacks on this law in five states, and that one of these attacks reached the United States supreme court? In every instance the courts upheld the law as society's protection against loan sharks.

"There are unsung heroes, I tell you, who are constantly at work protecting society against these leeches. I need only mention Major Boyd, of Atlanta; Claude Clarke, of Cleveland—both sterling legal aid campaigners—and Karl Finn, of Cincinnati, and Dwight Holmes, of St. Louis—Better Business bureau men. These are the real vigilantes of the modern day and I sometimes think that they might do well to resurrect the rope, and the cowhide."

Slater returned later and destroyed the remaining liquor, his action precipitating a fight when Ivey returned. Slater fired at Ivey, records show, but the bullet struck and killed Hodge.

How to represent him without his waterfall of hair will puzzle them almost as much as to picture Uncle Sam without his starred beaver and billy-goat goatee, or John Bull without his bay-window emblazoned with the Union Jack. To have to say in their pictures "this is Lloyd George" will be an agony in every newspaper studio from Moscow to Des Moines where "J. N. #### EVERYDAY QUESTIONS

DR. S. PARKES CADMAN.

In reading the Bible there are certain passages which are more or less cryptic and perplexing to me. One instance is verse 18, chapter 13 of the Book of Rev-

Stonoham Mass

Would greatly appreciate your this and opinion of the significance of 666. Perhaps you know that the letters of the Hebrew and Greek alphabets have numerical equivalents. Count-less efforts have been made to find numbers 666 and 616. The likeliest explanation is that these numbers repname Nero Caesar, as spelled in He-brew letters. If written in full Neron is designated in this cryptic form by 666. If the last letter "n" is drop-ped we have the resulting number 616, which is the alternative read in some New Testament manuscripts. That half mad emperor cast a sin-ister shadow on the Roman world and nowhere did that shadow fall more threateningly than on the church which he persecuted. infant slightly larger than the seasonal increase during the last two weeks.

The new census figures on retail distribution are extremely valuable. No study of the economics of distribution has ever been complete because of the little data available, but this condition will soon be remedied.

It is already evident that efficiency in production is far in advance of efficiency in distribution, largely because production statistics have been available for many years while distribution figures have not.

Reports from different cities will be made available as soon as completed. Already the figures for four cities have been announced: El Paso, Texas; Pueblo, Colo.; Trenton, N. J., and Syracuse, N. Y.

Economists and businessmen are busily studying these local distribution figures with unusual interest.
For example: In El Paso, Texas, 1.280 retail stores of all kinds, employing 4.772 people, did a business in 1929 of $49,43,000, which means that each employe sold slightly over $10,000 worth of goods for the year. (Copyright, 1900, for The Constitution by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

or the nature of the testimony expected was not revealed by Coroner E. Thomas, except for the statement that the witness lives "up the country near Gainesville." Reports Friday that a woman had told of seeing the shooting of Kubler were traced down by investigators and resulted in discovery that the mysterious woman witness merely visited the scene of the shooting with other persons, and was not an eye-witness of the death. Kubler's funeral was held Friday afternoon from the funeral chapel of A. S. Turner in Decatur. Interment was in Crest Lawn cemetery.

At the appointed hour of the inquest Friday members of the jury announced through the coroner that it would be held in private, and all persons were asked to retire. The question of authority for a private inquest was raised, however, and appeal to the county attorney's office for a ruling failed to establish the jury's right to such a procedure. The jury then retired to deliberate on the matter, and after lengthy discussion, announced a postponement of the inquest until Monday with the statement that a needed witness was not available.

STATUS OF BORGLUM IN DEKALB UNCHANGED

Although Mayor-elect James L. Key and Solicitor-General Claud C. Smith, of DeKalb county, have exchanged letters on the suggestion of the former that the indictment against Gutzom Borglum be nol-prossed, the status of Mr. Borglum in the DeKalb courts remained unchanged Friday.

Replying to Mr. Key's suggestion that court action be ended, thus elimithat court action be ended, thus eliminating any possible obstacle in the way of resuming work on Stone mountain, Mr. Smith inquired if the city had received a title to the property from the Venables and if the interest of the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association had been transferred also to the city.

These matters, Mr. Key informed the DeKalb solicitor-general, do not—in the mayor-elect's opinion—have any bearing on the merits of the proposal that the indictments be dismissed, as recommended by a recent

Mr. Key, in his letter to Mr. Smith, added that the matters involving the title to the mountain and the equity of the monumental association would be acquired in due course of time.

In Fulton superior court, Augustus Lukeman, who succeeded Borglum for a time as the memorial artist, Friday filed suit for $16,633.33 against the Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association. The Richmond sculptor claims that $12,500 is due him for making models for carving figures and the balance for superintending the work on the mountain.

Still Is Captured And Four Men Held

Capture of a 50-gallon still and arrest of four men were announced Friday afternoon by county police after a raid in Grogan's district. Officers Cal Cates, Charles Lyle and Charles Cook said that they uncovered the still by a stream in a ravine near Chestnut Ridge school.

Lemon Cash and Ed Coker were arrested at the still while it was in operation, and Bob Coker was arrested when he arrived with dinner for Cash and Ed Coker, the officers said. A. C. Coker was arrested later at home. The three Cokers are brothers, the officers said. Bonds on prohibition charges were set at $500 each and were furnished. Twenty gallons of whisky and 1,500 gallons of mash were confiscated.

The wail of the fiddle string resounded from the Atlanta auditorium Friday night as rural musicians from a dozen counties of Georgia cut loose with taient and elbow grease at the opening session of the Georgia Old Time Fiddlers' Association.

The convention was attended by more than 2,000 lovers of fiddle music, old, middle-aged and children in arms. Not only Atlantans were there, but hundreds from surrounding counties who followed their local favorites to the annual contest.

Fifty-odd fiddlers, banjoists and straw-beaters were on the stage of the auditorium when Professor Aleck Smart rang his cow bell and called the convention to order.

A. A. Gray, of Tallapoosa, was there to defend his title against such assiriants as Fiddlin' John Carson, Gid Tanner and Earl Johnson, all former champions of Georgia, From Acworth came Tom Collins, a new contender in the field. Short Harper, of Monroe, returned after several years of absence.

STEAMSHIP AGENTS FIND BUSINESS GOOD

Rapid Business Recovery in Southeast Noted in Atlanta Office Report.

The first annual meeting of a mamany, presided over the meetings.

While the meeting was held primarily to bring together all of the United States agents of the steamship company, Director Stadtlaender expressed confidence that business in the southeast is showing a more rapid recovery than other parts of the country. Reports submitted at the meeting revealed that the Atlanta office, under the direction of Walter Ward, showed a larger percentage of increase than any other American office. As a result of this showing, Mr. Ward was invited to make a trip to Germany as a guest of the North German Lloyd Steamship Company to make a closer study of Germany's attractions to American tourists.

According to statements made by the various agents attending the meeting from all parts of the United States, American business is decidedly on the upward trend. It was stated that no boom such as was experienced in 1929 could be expected, but the national survey indicated that business was headed toward a more stable condition.

City, County Spellers Compete for Honors

Fulton county's entry in the state-wide spelling bee, to be held Monday, October 6, as a special attraction for Children's Day at the Southeastern Fair, will be selected at 9 o'clock this morning at the county courthouse.

In the preliminary contests, held Friday afternoon at the city hall, W. L. Brady, of Boys' High; Mrs. J. L. Walters, of Central Night school; Dorothy Archer, of Girls' High and David Dechovitz, of Joe Brown Junior High, will represent the city, while Ruth Denton, of Center Hill school, and Winston Littlefield, of Fulton High, will represent the county school system. Emanual Kulbesch, of Hoke Smith Junior High, was named as an alternate for the city school system.

Today's elimination contest will be under the supervision of Jere Wells, Fulton county school superintendent.

gia. These are the two theaters which were staging vaudeville and unit stage shows, and which used orchestras; hence they are the two affected.

Instructions to operate upon a sound picture policy only were received from New York by both houses Friday, with the explanation that negotiations with representatives of the union musicians had reached an impasse. It is understood that the union demanded a 52-week contract, which the theater managements did not feel justified. It was explained that such a contract would commit the theaters to a musical policy for the entire year.

Compromise Rejected.

On the other hand, it was reliably reported that the theater managements had offered to compromise on a 30-week contract with a six-week notice clause, and also offered a bonus to each man for each week under the 30 that he was employed. This offer, it was stated, was rejected by the musicians union.

Managers of all houses expressed their regret at any inconvenience the situation might cause the public, but at the same time both the Fox and Georgia announced a reduction in prices of admission, by reason of the elimination of the stage attractions. Both houses stated their matinee price would be 35 cents, with a 50-cent charge for night performances.

The Georgia had been planning a greatly augmented orchestra and stage show to open Saturday, and carpenters were at work enlarging the orchestra pit when the wires were received from New York, while the Fox had announced a new Fanchon and Marco "idea" for their stage offering next week, together with the customary orchestral and organ attractions.

Approximately 75 men will be affected locally, in addition to the stage performers who will lose by reason of the loss of this city from their circuit. In addition to the musicians employed at the two theaters, they will be able to operate with fewer stage hands and, in the case of the Fox, without two special lighting operators who were needed for the elaborate stage lighting effects used there.

ASHEBORO, N. C., Sept. 26.—47
Death today claimed the second North Carolina congressman in the space of three days.

Representative William C. Hammer, democrat, five times chosen to congress from the seventh Carolina district and his party's nominee in the coming elections, died suddenly this afternoon at his home here. He was 65 years old.

Doctors said heart trouble caused his death.

Just 24 hours before, almost to the minute, Representative Hammer had bowed in final tribute over the hier of his democratic colleague, Major Charles Manly Stednan, of the fifth district, who died Tuesday after an appoleptic stroke. Major Stedman was buried yesterday at Fayetteville. The fifth district, which had returned Stedman, last Civil War veteran in congress, to the house over a score of years, and the seventh Mr. Hammer's district, lie adjacent to each other.

This major was an all-the-way-through guy, they were saying. He got in right when they were organizing the 82d and he stayed through Amiens, St. Mihiel and the Argonne. He'd seen a pretty lot of fighting, and it was beginning to get next to him.

When Mr. Neill rose to face the younger men who had served with his son in France, he scarcely could restrain his emotions. In a tremulous voice he expressed his gratification at meeting the buddies of his son, who was killed at Ponta-Mousson. # Dumps and Dugouts

A handful of francs representing a "mooch" made during the shelling of a little French town on the Argonne sector came up for recollection at headquarters of the reunion here Friday.

Dan Leary, the vet who hiked all the way from Rochester, N. Y., to the reunion, and who hangs out at headquarters to see who and what he can see, espied a face that made his bank of a small lake taking pot shots at some scared ducks. He had knocked one of 'em off, too.

From way-off New York state Friday came a pathetic letter of a member of the division whose dreams of attending the reunion in Attanta had been shattered by the visitation of death in his family.

"I had often wished for this day of arrive," wrote Michael Mandracchia, of North Pelham, N. Y., formerly with the 326th field hospital. "so that I could satisfy my dreams once again and meet some of the people who had done so much for us while there serving our country. I shall hope and pray for the day to see dear Atlanta in the near future."

One of the touching incidents at the reunion luncheon Friday of the 327th infantry was the presentation to the veterans assembled of Joseph N. Neill, Sr., of Macon, father of Lieutenant Joseph N. Neill, of Company E, who was killed in action on the night the St. Mihiel drive opened in 1918.

TICITY SEWER SURVEY DELIVERY IS DELAYED

Completion of Drawings and Graphs Holds Up Submission of Report.

Delivery of the detailed survey of sanitary conditions of Atlanta and its environs, which was to have been placed in the hands of Clarke Donaldson, chief of construction, some time this week, has been delayed several days, it was announced Friday, due to the fact that a large number of drawings and graphs are necessary to explain the large number of recommendations and conditions which are carried in the report of Whitman, Requardt and Smith, internationally known sanitary engineers, making the survey.

The report itself is finished, but

The report itself is finished, but the drawings are still in process and it will require at least another week before they are ready, it was said. When the survey is presented, it will be the most minute and pretentious study of sanitary conditions ever attempted by any city in the south, and will treat every problem which is presented locally with a suggested treatment of the whole metropolitan and contiguous areas.

Ezra B. Whitman, president of the company, will come to Atlanta from Baltimore, home office of the firm, and will formally present the report.

Aided by the topographical, property line, and underground sewer surveys conducted jointly by the borough in conjunction with prominent engineers of the United States geodetic survey at a cost of approximately $400,000, the Baltimore engineers were able to do the work at the comparatively small cost of $20,000, and in much less time than it otherwise would have taken to complete a detailed study of the problem here.

Cubs Cinch Second Place After Hot Chase.

By E. W. Lewis, United News Staff Writer.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 26 .- (UN) -Twelve years ago tonight a tail, slim sergeant of the first gas regiment was in the midst of the Argonne drive, ordering his company to lay down smoke barrages for the 138th St. Louis infantry.

That man, Charles "Gabby" Street, completed laying another perfect smoke screen tonight, and the St. Louis Cardinals were safe behind it with the National league pennant secure in their grasp after one of the most uphill fights ever staged in the most uphill fights ever staged in the major leagues.

"Gabby" Street, hero of the 1930 baseball season, saw his team go out and defeat the hard-hitting Pittsburgh Pirates in a slugging bee today, 10 to 5, to elinch the pennant.

Imbued suddenly with an overwhelming amount of confidence the Cardinals rose from a mediocre aggregation of ball players on August 19, to sweep through their opponents and rise from 10 games behind first place to the championship in a little more than a month. Frankie Frisch, second baseman, and one of the leaders in the pennant drive, believes it was the sudden realization that the New York Giants "were a bunch of dubs and had no business strutting around as if they were going to win the pennant." the pennant"
HIT THEIR STRIDE.

Anyway, on the 20th of August, the Cardinals defeated the Giants here, 5 to 4, to halve the series, and from that time on they won, 30 games and lost but five. On that day Jim Bottomley, who had been moping around first base, and Frisch, who was playing far from the great game he is capable of, suddenly came to life. The pitchers followed suit and the hard hitting outfielders found their stride

Before that game with the Giants, the Cardinals had played fair ball at home, but disastrous ball on the road.

Then came one of the greatest parades since Stallings, "Miracle Man" of the Boston Braves of 1914, led his club to a pennant.

FIVE STRAIGHT. The Cards took five straight here from Philadelphia, went on a short road trip, took two from Cincinnati, split even in four games with the Chicago Cubs, wen two more victories from Pittsburgh and then reached home for four straight from Cincinnati.

Mississippi started off with a bang, running up a score of 25 to 0 in the opening quarter. Then they took things a little more easily, being content to score two touchdowns and ATHENS, Ga., Sept. 26 .- The roar of another football season is gathering volume in this normally quiet college town tonight, as the highly touted "Flaming Sophomores" of 1929—now bowing to the more dignified appela-tion of "The Varsity Football Team of the University of Georgia"-await the charge of Oglethorpe's Petrels on Sanford tield tomorrow afternoon.

There is no disposition in these parts to take the game lightly—anything but—for the folks still recall how a grim fighting and determined little band, from Peachtree road in Atlanta, journeyed over last fall and took the measure of practically the same team they will face tomorrow. Established reputations and being un der-dog in the pre-game betting didn' bother them then, and it is not likely to do so now. Only this time Georgia knows pretty well what it is up against, and will be prepared.

Every indication is that this game will set an early season at-tendance record. Interest here is mounting hourly, and everywhere one hears earnest discussion as to one hears earnest discussion as to the Bulldogs' chances of wiping out their 1929 defeat. The boys would like to do that little thing, but it has been necessary for Mehre to bring them along slowly in view of the Yale game October 11, and so the Petrels must be taken in stride—a procedure that sometimes means a stumble. The Oglethorne team and most of their Oglethorpe team and most of their supporters will reach here Saturday morning on a special train from Atlanta, and then things will begin to hum in earnest. Thursday afternoon saw the last of the hard work for the Bulldogs, and -despite the intense heat-they looked fit for the fray. The offense was clicking behind neat interference, and Chandler, Dickens, Roberts, Mott and Waugh tore off a number of brilliant runs. The tackle play only fell a bit below par, and it seems now that Lynn, Rose and Hamrick will have to bear the brunt of the work in this veterans will get first call when the team takes the field against the Petrels. Captain Herb Maffett and "Catfish" Smith will hold down the end positions, with Lynn and Rose at tackles, Maddox and Leathers at tackles, Maddox and Leathers at guards, and Tassapoulos performing at the pivot position. This would give the Bulldogs a powerful and experienced forward wall, averaging 194 pounds. The starting quartet in the backfield is expected to be Downes, Roberts, Chandler and Dickens—a fast and tricky combination but one that and tricky combination but one that tips the beam at a pro rata weight of only 164 pounds. No official line-up has been given out, however, and there is still a chance that some for the kick-off comes.

With the exception of Captain Herrin, who will be missing from his halfback post because of in-juries when hostilities get under way, Oglethorpe, too, is expected to send their strongest line-up to send their strongest line-up into the battle from the start.

The Petrel forward wall will be outweighed about eight pounds to the man, averaging some 186 pounds, and will be made up of Bryant and McKissick, ends; Church and Kenzie, tackles; Fulton and Patrick, guards, and Mor-row, center. The ball-carrying brigade will be made up of An-derson at quarter, Sypert and Woodard at halves, and Meyers, full. Strangely enough, these four average exactly the same as Georgia's expected starters in the rear works-164 pounds.

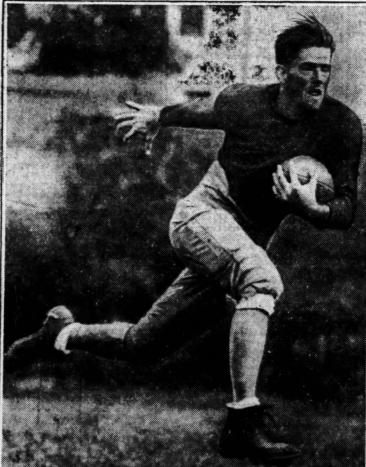

Much will depend, from the Petre standpoint, on the way three sopho-mores in the line stand up under their first taste of real varsity warfare. These poys are Kenzie, Patrick and Morrow, and all of them have held up their end of the work capably in prac-

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Sept. 26.— Gainesville High defeates Madison High, 27 to 0, here this afternoon on soggy gridiron.

A parade by the American Legion chapter and Riverside Military students was cancelled because of the rain. The playing of Lee at quarterback and Little at center was outstanding for the locals.

These Boys Will Gallop at Athens This Afternoon

The two dashing young men above are expected to cause quite a bit of trouble on Sanford field at Athens this afternoon when the Oglethorpe Petrels invade the Classic City for their annual football game with the University of Georgia.

CRAMTON BOWL, MONTGOMERY, Ala., Sept. 26 .- A forward pass that went swirling 30 yards through the rain in the fourth quarter here tonight gave Birmingham Southern a 7 to 0 victory over Auburn.

It was a great night for the yachts Enterprise and Shamrock, a heavy rain falling throughout most of the game.

Birmingham Southern played the better game and deserved to but the new Auburn team showed smartness of form and magnificen courage in withstanding two drives within their 10-yard line. Auburn showed a great lack of experience and their offensive power was never in evidence. Outrushed and outgained, they kept back the rush attack, falling before a pass and an off-tackle play for the extra Darlington High From Rome Will Oppose B. H. S. at Spiller's.

Boys' High will open its 1930 football schedule at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at Spiller field with the strong Darlington school, of Rome, as opponents. It will be the only game for Atlantans today and looms as one of the best of the prep season.

The Hurricane was runner-up in the County of th the northern division of the G. I. A. A. last year, losing to the Madison Aggies in the final game, and was champion. Only seven or eight of the championship team returned to school this year and Coach R. L. "Shorty" Doyal has had to build practically a new

YOUNG HOMANS

FACES TERRIFIC

MERION CRICKET CLUB, ARD-MORE, Pa., Sept. 26.—(NANA)— There is now just one golf match be-tween Bobby Jones and the all-time record of four major championships record of four major championships in one year.

The lone barrier is young Gene Homans, of Englewood, N. J., the tall, thin, bespectacled golfer from Princeton University, who was at one time 5 down against Charles Seaver, the young California athlete. Homans, against this handicap, turned in a magnificent 70 to won by 1 up, with as fine an exhibition of golfing skill and true courage as anyone would care to see.

Bobby Jones has this one obstacle in his way, an obstacle thinner physically than a drink of water, but carrying the heritage of a stout, fighting heart, the type of heart that never knows defeat until the engagement is over the type of heart that never knows defeat until the engagement is over.

Through the blistering heat of another sun-baked day, Bobby Jones heat Jess Sweetser by 9 and 8, with a remarkable exhibition of golf in the afternoon. He was 4 up when they started. With this lead Jones was out in 33 and he closed out the match with a birdie 3 on the 10th hole, a pace entirely too fast even for the stout-hearted ex-champion of the United States and Great Britain. As Jess remarked later, "I did all I could, but there was nothing to be done about it."

done about it."

REVENGE COMPLETE.

Eight years ago Sweetser beat
Jones, 8 and 7, at Brookline. Today
Jones added just one hole to this old

No man in golf has ever beaten Jones twice. When they beat him once, as several have, they face annihilation in the next attempt.

several have, they face annihilation in the next attempt.

This has been true of such great match players as Bob Gardner, Francis Ouimet, Chick Evans, Jess Sweetser and several others. In the return meeting Jones has been a machine of implacable revenge, coming through with a destructive force and a span of skill that has always proved completely devastating.

Against those who have beaten him once he has turned on a brand of golf

Against those who have beaten him once he has turned on a brand of golf that was beyond all stopping. For example, against Sweetser today he was four up at the fifth hole. Sweetser made a great rally and cut this lead down to 1. There was every prospect of a hard-fighting, closely contested match. Then Jones moved away to lead Sweetser 4 up at the finish of the morning round.

KEYED FOR COMERACK. KEYED FOR COMEBACK.
You could see that Sweetser was keyed up for a big comeback. He was confident of carrying the match into the stretch, but in the afternoon was confident or carrying the match into the stretch, but in the afternoon test, starting 4 down, he suddenly ran into a brand of golf that would have burned the heart from anyone, for Jones played the next ten holes in four under par.

It was typical of the young Georgia attorney that, despite the fact that he was four up and had played the course in 72, he was far from satisfied with his game. To be downright hopest about it, he was sorer than two boils, as he felt he had been below form all the week. So he stepped on the gas in the afternoon, and when he steps on the gas there is no one can keep up.

Sweetser did all any good golfer could do to meet this last charge, but when you are four down and your

MORE DRAMATIC.

MORE DRAMATIC.

The battle in the semi-final turn between Charley Seaver and Gene Homans was far more dramatic. Young Seaver is a powerfully built athlete, weighing 185 pounds. He had all the physical advantages minus tournament experience. Homans is on the frail side, and at the start he looked to be worn down and faitering.

The two young stars from the east and west had dinner together the night before and then went to a motion picture show. They were two of the finest representatives high-class sport can show.

When Seaver finished five up in the forenoon he looked to be safely in. He was then an odds-on bet. But young Homans is the son of the fa-

Friday's Cards In Semi-Finals

Representative Eastern Elevens To Swing Into Action Today

Friday Spent in Polishing Squad for Clash With Freshmen.

By Herb Clark.

Coach Alexander threw the switch on his emery wheel at the Rose Bowl field Friday afternoon, and the Yel-low Jackets took a spell of polishing, the like of which can hardly be imagined.

The Jackets are looking forward to this afternoon, or were during yes-terday's session. There was little of this afternoon, or were during yesterday's session. There was little of "today" out there on the gridiron: "tomorrow" was the object of all eyes. It was not the "tomorrow" of the proverbial sub-tropic "manana," either. "Tomorrow" was a threat.

For "tomorrow" was a threat.

For "tomorrow" which is now among those present, despite all contrary-minded logic, is the day on which the freshman squad will move over to pay its first respects to the gold-iersied lads in what is planned as a full-time, game. Consensus of opinion through the varsity was that the upstarts would rue their temerity.

Me, oh my! How they would rue that temerity!

In order to step heavily upon the yearlings, however, there were several pearlings, however, there were several things to be fixed up Friday, several points of play to be burnished. So the Jackets set out to do the fixing and the burnishing. They have their respective and collective dignities to uphold this afternoon and have a lesson to teach.

on to teach.
Friday the linemen tuned up their Friday the linemen tuned up their shift, their charge and their tackling. The safety men ran back kicks in profusion. The punters punted just as often. The ends and tackles swept down the field to see that the punts did not retrace by foot the path they had followed through the air.

Later the passers, the receivers and the batters-down took their turn in the main ring, tossing and catching and spoiling for the concluding period of Friday's short session.

It was, all in all, a good drill. Coach Alexander had applied his emery and his buffer with vigor, and he seemed to think quite highly of the results.

The Rickers were doing well. So were the safety men and the tacklers.

The linemen were starting nicely, charging hard, and stepping fast.

The passers were accurate, the receivers were taking the tosses skillfully, and the defense was coming up to slap the ball down and no mistake.

fully, and the defense was coming up to slap the ball down and no mistake.

UNCLE WIGGLY.

The session closed with a bang, Pat ("Uncle Wiggly") Barron taking a perfect heave over his shoulder and speeding and twisting his way 85 yards to the counters.

Captain Earl Dunlap and his mates are primed for the battle today. They have a lesson to teach, and taught it will be even if "Uncle Wiggly" has to repeat. There'll be plenty of help about, though. All the boys will have textbooks out.

The injured list at the Flats will hold but one man on the sidelines this afternoon, that being Harrison, whose nose, socked right royally in Thursday's drill, later was found to be in such shape as to make it wise to hold him out for a time to permit of perfect recuperation. Corn and Maree were both excused from Friday's drill with slight indispositions as their excuses, but will be back today.

On the punts.

This is easily the most alert, smartics: Auburn team in years no matter whether they win'or lose.

Birmingham Southern's line play was a bit better than Auburn's parried, both wary. A punt went over the line. The Tiger had the Panther on his own 20 yard line. They sparred some more, hammering at the line. Auburn was set back by a punt.

Morehouse Works For First Game.

In preparation for their opening game on October 4 the football squad of Morehouse college held their first scrimmage of the training period yesterday afternoon on the red clay athletic field of the institution.

Close followers of the team say it is the smallest group that has ever answered the call. There were but 30 men out, with several letter men from last year's team missing. The economic depression is held responsible for the boys not being able to attend school this fall, officials claim.

Captain-elect Edmonds, backfield are for the Tigers, appeared to be in excellent form, but he was showing his wares against a weak line.

Ceaches Vaughn and Forbes, mentors of the Morehouse team, were discouraged over the workout. Flenty of backfield material and no linesmen is the chief worry. An entire green forward wall will represent the school this year unless seme men return. They will not be in condition for the Allen University game, which will be clared October 4.

Auburn was promptly in trouble, the kick-off being downed on their own 5-yard line. Hitchcock ran it out 10 yards when his pass for a punt was too low to kick. He bobted it 33 yards on the next effort.

Jenks Gillem, "Captain Jenks," of the horse marines, came on with his Southern conference Panthers and Auburn retired. The match and the score must have been entirely agreeable to Bobby Jones. It was Sweetser who eight years ago broke his heart with an 8-7 defeat in the amateur at Brookline. Bobby wrote that licking off likes pulled his tee shot at the line. Bobby wrote that licking off the books today by way of cleaning up all unfinished business on his way to the championship.

More heroic in its qualities than Bob's slashing triumph was the 't-tle waged by Homans, who shot a 70 at Charles Seaver in the afternoon to win 1 up on the 36th hole. Homans was 5 down at the 21st and Schoolboy Charles may have been thinking about his match on the morrow with Bobby Jones, for Homans began notching par on every hole, and before his young opponent realized it before his young opponent realized it Homans was on his flanks, 1 down and 2 to go. Homans con the 17th and 18th to drawn the assignment with Bobby in the finals.

with Bobby in the finals.

Homans is a fighter. He peers through glasses, studies his problems undurriedly and strokes smoothly. Bobby defeated Homans at Minikahda, 3 and 2, in the second 18-hole match of the 1927 championship, but no doubt Gene is an improved golfer now. Yet none expects him to get any farther with Bobby tomorrow than Bobby wants him to.

Bobby had been playing rather spotty golf in his almost undisputed progress through the first three rounds. There were those among the great men who observe these tournaments who expected Sweetser to carry the fight close to the last hole if not actually win. Their expectation may have been colored with hope for there are those who would not object to seeing Robby Jones halted short of his seeing Bobby Jones halted short of his

The tip-off came last night to your correspondent in a whispered conversation with Chick Ridley. Chick said "You remember that eight and seven trimming Bob took at Brookline. Well, I am going to ask him to make it nine and eight tomorrow." Well, how nine and eight tomorrow." Well, how could Bobby refuse a request from such an old friend as Chick Ridley such an old friend as Chick Ridley such an old friend as Chick Ridley. Bobby started off at top light-o. Bobby started off at top light-on light on light on light on. He was going after the match with a heart as cold as a hangman's. He laid his approach on number 8 far misside Sweetser and just six feet from the pin. His putt for a birdle faded away from the pocket and he had to share the hole with Jess.

BOB PULLS IRON.

Then Bobby's iron off the tee at The tip-off came last night to your "You remember that eight and seven trimming Bob took at Brookline. Well, I am going to ask him to make it nine and eight tomorrow." Well, how could Bobby refuse a request from such an old friend as Chick Ridley. Right-o, Bobby started off at top speed winning four of the first five holas. Then an out-of-bounds tee shot, a pitch that fell into a trap, and short: putts missed on two greens washed away all but one hole of his big lead. The gallery began to murmur that Jones had blown up.

Unimpressive Pars.
You see Bobby looks bad when he is not shooting birdies. Easy par's carved-by the emperor look very unimpressive to the crowd. So with five holes left to play. Bobby was just one up and it looked like a long, hard match. Then Bob spoke to Calamity Jane sharply and the birdies began to drop. He won three of the last five holes and sent Jess in to lunch with a load of four-down on his back.

Bobby stepped out in the afternoon how quickly the advantage can chang in these golf matches.

To convey the illusion that Jones was weakening, he missed a four-footer on the tenth for a half, and had his advantage cut to one shallow hole. One heard in the gallery talk of "mental hazard," and what a strain Bobby was under. The galleryites had read that in the paper. Bobby was perspiring cheerfully and otherwise serene.

Five-up and 12 to play as he stood on No. 7 tee Bobby shot the next four holes three under par and made every flag a winning one.

Bobby was out-driving Sweetser from the start and maintained his advantage on every tee where distance was needed, and in the afternoon Bobby's approach shots to the pin were gems of purest golf.

Atlantans appeared as if by magic in the big gallery, where a dozen had bloomed yesterday double that number appeared for the main event. Bowic Martin, Ebb Woodruff, little Chief Martin, Ebb Woodruff, little Chief footer to lose and Sweetser sank one to win the 12? That is what I saw. The gallery broke across the road on the jump to surround the 125-yard 13th Tom Thumb hole. With difficulty, Bob and Jess were piloted through the mob by their marines, who never guarded a legation more devotedly than they piloted the two golfers through this uprising today. Sweetser was a bit inside Bob on the carpet; and, after the approach utts, Bob had to play the odd. He punched it down and conceded one to Jess for a half in three.

CLOSE HERE.

It was a tight match just here. The appeared for the main event. Bowie Martin. Bob Woodruff, little Chief Cody, H. M. Atkinson, D. C. Black. Arthur Almand were a few recruits I saw. All those enumerated before were on hand and perspiring happily. They were unobstrusive, but if anyhody asked a question about Bobby they were there to supply the answer.

they were there to supply the answer.

If Interlachen was an inferno during the national open championship, Merion today was a vapor bath for the semi-finals of the amateur. Last night's storm left the course steaming. The slightest exertion sent perspiration streaming. The mob grimly struggled along, gasping for breath, trying to see every shot but failing to get a vantage point. They were too weak to fight for it.

Gene Homans wiped the perspirations.

It was a tight match just here. The crowd had swelled to at least 10,000—maybe 20,000—who knows? They stampeded across lots to the 14th tee, their feet sounding like the rush of cattle, and they saw the duelists stroke their way to a half in par four's. One of them had to crack, or one had to do something heroic. Such a dead-lock with Jones 1-up could not last long. to fight for it.

Gene Homans wiped the perspiration from his spectacles and drove off, followed by his schoolboy opponent in the first semi-final match at 9:30. They carried off a large detachment of the crowd. The Jones-Sweetser match the crowd. The Jones-Sweetser match was delayed half an hour to allow the other contest to get along and avoid interference. When last seen Homans was wiping his glasses. He played the course in 79, but took 94 on his spectacles.

It was 10 o'clock and 90 in the shade when Jess Sweetser and Bobby came to the tee. They were photographed in conventional poses, obviously anxious to get started. Jess was bare headed. Jess, being placed higher in the beached drays first and Bobby fol-Jess, being placed higher in the bracket, drove first and Bobby fol-lowed. Both tried for the pin on the 195-yard third. It was set precariously near the rim of a deep trap. Bob was 18 feet to the right but the pit caught Jess. Sweetser came out 30 feet beyond the cup and putted back 16 inches short. Bobby wheeled one six inches away, and Jess waived him the hole 3 to 4.

Two up going to the fourth. Bobby belted a tremendous drive that led Jess many yards. Jess hit a brassic second that sounded soft. It barely cleared a big trap ahead and brought up in the rough. Bob's big brassic apoke like the pop of a 22-caliber pistel and the ball came to rest a neat pitch from the 505-yard green. Jess tremely unlikely in ordinary processes that he could be defeated. Imagine starting an 18-hole round four down to the young marster and expecting to get far! But Bobby had his own private mark for which to shoot. Jess had licked him eight years ago, 8 and 7. That defeat rankles dully to this day. It perhaps was a prideful ambition of Bob's that he should better that count if possible in defeating Jess. So there was no coasting home in par, and letting nature take its course. That match just HAD to end on the 10th green. It must not go farther.

BOB PULLS IRON.
Then Bobby's iron off the tee at the short ninth drifted into a trap at the right. That eventually cost him the hole for Sweetser played without mishap. So Bobby crossed to the tenth merely two up on Sweetser. He had gone out in par 36 against 41 strokes for his opponent. That shows how quickly the advantage can change in these golf matches. Bobby drove to perfect position to open the crooked first hole, but big Jess was trapped. Out came Jess gamely just eight feet from the cup, a marvelous shot. Jess had no idea of giving up. Bobs approach was 20 feet away. He rolled up dead. Jess saw his putt for a birdie refuse him, and wavel Bob a half in par 4. Jess put too much into his drive on the long No. 2 and it flew out of bounds. That cost him a stroke, for Bobby played steadily along hand in hand with par. Bob was 5 up going to No. 3, the 21st hole of the match.

But Bob played his tee shot JESS IS TRAPPED.

But Bob played his tee shot high and it soared into a deep trap at the left-hand edge of the green. Sweetser was safely on. Bobby; Layed a brilliant chip shot out to within five feet of the hole. Sweetser putted up and Bob tried hard for the half, but the ball quit on the rim and he lost the hole to become four up again.

ROUGH AND TUMBLE.

It must be admitted that the battlers put on a rough and tumble bout at the pesky 11th hole. They scrambled along through rough grass and traps and finally went to work on the putting green. Bobby won with a five to Sweetser's six when he laid a stymic. Sweetser tried for it with a niblick but failed. That put Bob 2-up again. With Bobby's wood clubs clicking like machines on the long No. 4, and Jess a bit wild from the tee, the blond giant had to work hard on the green for his half in par 5. Bob's putt for a birdie 3 barely missed falling from 30 yards range.

SWEETSER OUTDRIVEN.

Bob outdrove Sweetser considerably on the fifth. Jess used a spoon to get on the edge of the green, but Bobby belted his to about 25 feet of Bobby belted his to about 25 feet of the pin with an iron. Jess chipped his third shot a bit short. Then Calamity Jane barked and Bob had is first hirdie of the afternoon round. The mob let out that wild roar that only Jones can evoke. Bob was working as hard as if two down. The 24th hole of the match was coming up and he was five to the good. He could not waste shots if he expected to cancel that old score of 8-7.

There was some confusion be-

There was some confusion behind the sixth tee as they mounted. Both pushed their drives into the rough, very close to an anciext apple tree. They had villainous lies. Jess played the odd and put a long iron into a trap at the left of the green. Bobby put his a few feet short of the carpet, a fine shot. Then Bob hit a chip shot too weakly, and it irked him sorely as the ball quit far short of the cup. Jess chipped well on and they got down in buzzard fives. Bob and Jess, each surrounded by marines, walked far apart between shots. They were silent save for an occasional muttered word to their escorts or caddies. On the greens they went about their work silently, gestures taking the place of words if communication were needed. Excellent friends out of character, they were busy with their own problems in the match.

since coming here. That putt on No. 9 had given him a mighty kick.

Bob's last drive was meticulously placed so as to leave him his favorite pitch-and-run shot for the cup on No. 10. Big Jess was a bit back of him in the fairway. Jess pitched and was 30 fc. short. Then Bob switched from his usual plan of attack, and instead of running the ball up, shot a steep pitch at the pin. It came down 6 inches away and stuck there. 6 inches from the bole, like a white-headed pin on a green map.

Mand partially symmed Sweetser, Jess, being placed higher in the bracket, drove first and Bobby followed. The crowd did not cheer, but turned resolutely to the task of trailing the players as if it were so much work to be done.

Double-Header Slated at Almand Park in Y-Church Series.

To real ball games are scheduled Saturday afternoon at Almand park that will bring into action four of the pennant winners of the Y-Church Athletic Association in the big series for the association championship and the Trammell Scott trophy.

In the first game, starting at 1:45. Grant Park Methodist, winners of the Fulton league race and boasting one of the hardest hitting clubs in the city, will meet the Inman Park Baytist club, victors in the Piedmont league. Clarke, former G. M. A. ace, will pitch for the Baptist boys and will be opposed by either Cole or Hayes.

Hayes.
Northwest Atlanta, two-time champion of the Dixie league, will meet the Sewanee league titleholders, Bethany Methodist, in the nightcap. This game should result in a hurlers' battle with Matthews opposing either Fuller, McCall or Cooper.

Atlanta League Leaders Clash.

Southern Spring Bed Company and Southern Ruralist will renew their activities in search of the Atlanta league pennant with a game at 2 o'clock at Piedmont park. Southern Spring Bed won the first game of the series two weeks ago and rain halted the game last Saturday. Southern Bed won the first half and Ruralist won the second half of the split season.

will do, even for prairie chickens, is reported by Sam G. Anderson, president of the Minnesota Game Protective League. Mr. Anderson says that near his home is a farm on which about five acres have been permitted to lie idle and "go back" to native prairie chicken conditions. On this little patch prairie chickens nest and rear their young every year during the ebb and flow of the species.

This little prairie chicken oasis is in a game refuge so the birds are not shot off and they persist from year to year solely because of the bit of natural nesting cover left for them.

Mr. Anderson voices the opinion that the preservation of a few acres of natural prairie growth on each section of land with reasonable protection of the birds would perpetuate the played a great round this afternoon with one of the most brilliant finishes yet seen in any championship.

The story of one hole shows his caliber. He was one down and two to play when they came to the 230-yard 17th. Homans hit a magnificent tee thot that barely missed the green. It stopped nine feet beyond. Seaver was off line, but came back with a fine recovery. Homans just missed his two and stopped two feet over the cup.

There was no sign of a slip or a mistake in this murderous counter-attack which piled up a lead of seven holes against one of the best match players golf has known.

TRAVERS' TRIBUTE.

I followed the afternoon round with Jerry Travers, the one star who still has Jones tied with four amateur championships. Travers made this rec-two and stopped two feet over the cup.

Seaver then laid him a stymie that looked deader than the dust or the mummies of the Pharnobs. His ball was on the lip of the cup, directly in a road. Here was a pretty pickle. Heing one down, Homans had to take the big chance. He couldn't play safe with only one hole to go, but if he deviated by half an inch he would knock Seaver's ball in and lose by two and one.

MARVELOUS PUTT.

MARVELOUS PUTT.

Under these harassing circumstances he stepped up and with a gool head, a stout heart and flexible hands and wrists, he cut his short putt around the blockading ball. The putt ran to the right, spun its way slowly around and finally dropped in to win the hole. It was the big and killing thrust of the match, and it called for all the courage there is to play it the right way.

all the courage there is to play it to right way.

Homans then won the 18th when Seaver hooked his second shot, and earned the privilege of being the final and ultimate harricade between Bobby Jones and his last charge up the slope of fame

TRAVERS' TRIBUTE.

I followed the afternoon round with less Jones tied with four amateur championships. Travers made this record 17 years ago.

"I think if will leave the books

"I think it will leave the books tomorrow," he said, as he watched Jones play. "There is the greatest all-around golfer of all time. There has been nothing like him in the history of the game when you take in the combination of skill, power, courage and brains. He has them all and that is all any great champion needs to be invincible."

Today was another hot, sticky Today was another hot, sticky, steamy day where another great miling crowd of 10,000 battled its way around the course, most of them chasing Bobby Jones. It would be something of a miracle if young Homans won out. But if he can play the golf he has shown through the last two days he will make even Bobby Jones step to win.

The odds are now terrific that the powerful young Georgian will storm the last of the ramparts and complete the single greatest season ever known in the history of sport.

All-Screen Programs-Announced Following Elimination of Music and Stage Bills.

New programs are offered today at the Fox, Georgia and Paramount theaters. Following the cancellation of all musical and stage attractions of the three will offer added screen attractions. In the cases of the Georgia and Fox, the two which were operating on a combination stage and screen policy, there will be a reduction in admission prices, placing all three upon an equal footing in this respect. At the Fox the feature attraction is "Good News," clever college comedy with color, song and dance, with Bessie Love in the star position among a cast that contains many famous screen and stage names. The motivity of the star contains many famous screen and stage names. The motivities of the star contains many famous screen and stage names. marks the debut of Flo Ziegfeld as a producer for the screen and the lovely girls in the cast more than sustain his reputation. It is a picture with comedy, beauty, music and a good love story. It is in Technicolor throughout and the music is provided by George Olsen and his band.

At the Georgia Gloria Swanson comes back to the screen in an entirely new type of comedy, "What a Widow." This moves at so fast a pace that it nears the slapstick, yet it is a clever story of a fascinating young widow, with $5,000.000 to spend as she pleases—in Paris, of all places—and with international suitors in droves.

Exceptional short subjects, with newsreels, comedies and other special screen attractions, will complete the new bills at all three theaters.

RUSSELL ABOUT TAXES

Writes Second Open Letter To His Opponent in Runover Primary.

George H. Carswell, from his headquarters in Atlanta, Friday issued an open letter to Richard B. Russell, Jr., asking if he would veto any bill increasing or creating a tax. He also asked for a denial of a "deal" with John N. Holder.
The letter follows:

speech delivered here this evening quoted from the records of the house of representatives in asserting that his opponent, Richard B. Russell, Jr., had never, while a member of the general assembly, worked or voted in favor of the things he now advocates.

"Why did Mr. Russell vote against the Mann bill in the session of 1923?" Mr. Carswell asked. "That bill provided for a three-cent gas tax to be devoted to road building and was the first attempt to create a real highway construction fund. One cent of that money was allocated to counties for their local roads. Mr. Russell voted against that bill and has consistently voted against highway measures in the house, Mr. Russell voted in the session of 1923 to take $600,000 away from the general fund and the common achools, and give it to the district schools who were already comparatively well provided for. If Georgia ever person of the superior of 1923 to take $600,000 away from the general fund and the common achools, and give it to the district schools who were already comparatively well provided for. If Georgia ever gets out of next-to-the-last place in the column of illiteracy, it will have to be done through the common schools and in spite of the votes of legislators of the Russell type.

CARSWELL AGAIN ASKS Heywood Broun Jailed SHIFTING OF POLICY For Leading Strikers

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(49)—Heywood Broun, newspaper writer and socialist candidate for congress, was arrested today and soon afterward freed on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Broun started to lead a parade of 300 striking dressmakers down Fifth avenue during the noon hour. A patrolman halted the paraders and threatened to arrest several unless they dishanded.

"Don't lock them up. Lock me up." Broun said. So the policeman did.

Magistrate Ford dismissed the charge after Broun testified that 600 other pickets had been allowed to pass without interference before the section he headed was stopped.

Gubernatorial Candidate Raps Methods Employed 'Solely To Catch Voters.'

MACON, Ga., Sept. 26.—Richard B. Russell, Jr.. addressing Bibb county voters here Friday night, declared that "we have seen a shifting of pol-icy and professed principles, done solely for the purpose of catching votes."

solely for the purpose of catching votes."

"I always thought, until after the first primary, that / real principles came from the heart and convictions of a man, rather than merely from the tongue," said Mr. Russell.

"If a candidate for office shifts his gosition during a campaign in an efport to catch votes, it must be admitted that no one can tell what he would stand for if he should be elected.

"During the last weeks we have seen a shifting of policy and abandonment of professed principles, done solely for the purpose of catching votes. The people are entitled to know what they can expect of their officials and have little patience with one who dodges and trims his sails in an effort to catch a gust of public opinion.

Denies Factionalism.

Rivers' Vote in 1925.

"Fortunately, the people are not dependent upon the word of Mr. Carswell and his friends as to my support of this measure. The house journal of 1925, page 613, will show that I voted for this bill and that E. D. Rivers voted against this effort to secure school books at cost. No amount of denial by Mr. Carswell and his friends can destroy this important record. While I was speaker the house passed by a vote of 176 to 3 the Beaton school-book bill, providing for school books at cost, and this bill had my active support. It was killed in the senate.

George Napier spent $4.45 in his campaign for renomination as attorney general in addition to his entrance fee of $150, his report of expenditures, filed Friday, showed.

Eleven of the 42 candidates in the recent democratic primary have filed reports of their campaign expenses as provided by law.

S. Price Gilbert, unopposed candidate for associate justice of the supreme court, and W. F. Jenkins, unopposed candidate for associate justice of the supreme court, and W. F. Jenkins, unopposed candidate for the court of appeals, spent only their entrance fee of $150.

At the same time, it was announced that C. In his answer, Director Steuard said the enlarged Atlanta as created by the 1929 act "possessed none of the qualities or characteristics of any other city in the United States." Director Steuart said its officials were given no governing power in the act, nor were they given power to levy taxes, issue bonds or enact ordinances, while these powers remain uncurtailed with the various boroughs contained in the area. He said the Greater Atlanta area of 184 square miles ex-ceeds that of any other city in the United States except Los Angeles, Chicago and New York. Director Chicago and New York. Director Steuart served notice that the larger figure would continue to be published as a footnote in the list of cities in order of population.

City Attorney Mayson issued a statement in answer to the brief-which the census bureon filed in an effort to justify a decision of Steuart not to include the larger count.

"Our contention is that the question of a city's characteristics is not one for the census bureau to passon. It is settled by the sovereign legislature of Georgia and he hasn't any discretion in the matter.

Vote Not Required.

"EACH"

"He says the city has not the authority to levy taxes, and that is correct, but such authority is not a requirement for the incorporation of a city. Perhaps he does not realize that the town of Doraville, Ga., has been incorporated since 1871, and has never had the power to levy taxes. Doubtless its population has been recognized by the census bureau throughout this period.

less its population has been recognized by the census bureau throughout this period.

"As to submitting the new charter to a vote of the people before putting it into effect, which Mr. Steuart points out was not done, I cannot imagine where he got his information that any such referendum was required. It was not even mentioned in the act of the Georgia legislature. "There is nothing new in the entire document, and I am quite confident we will win our case."

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Sept. 26.—
(P)—The schooner Our Son, last of a type that once ruled the Great Lakes, was abandoned to a pounding storm today off Sheboygan. Wis., and left to sink or drift ashore.

The seven members of her crew were taken aboard the freighter William Nelson. It was believed the freighter would put into Milwaukee. In 1875 the Our Son was built, only one of many similar ships carrying freight from the northern waters to manufacturing centers in the east. She came through many storms, but today's blow, heralding the fall season, was too much for the old two-master.

ELLIS-GOULD WEDDING IS IMPORTANT EVENT OF TODAY

Elaborate Buffet Supper Follows Church Rehearsal

An event of social importance scheduled for this evening is the wedding, of Miss Phoebe Ellis and Stuart Gould which will be solemnized at a brilliant ceremony this evening at 9 o'clock at All Saints Episcopal church. The marriage service will be followed by a small reception at which the bride-elect's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bishop, will entertain at their home on Westminster drive, the guests to include members of the bridal party and out-of-town guests.

Following, the wedding rehearsal last evening Mrs. John W. Ware, and her daughter, Miss Emily McPhail, entertained at a buffet supper at their home on Huntington road in honor of Miss Ellis and Mr. Gould. The reception rooms were artistically decorated with foliage plants and vases of pink roses arranged on the bookcases, mantels and tables.

The attractively appointed table was overlaid by a lace cover veiling delicate green satin. In the center of the table was a large three-tierd wedding cake embossed in orange blossoms. The top of the cake was adorned by a small basket made of white frosting which was filled with valley lilies. The cake was encircled by clusters of orange blossoms and smilax. Around the entire outer edge of the table a mound of white rosebuds extended, while just inside the mound was a garland of smilax graced at artistic intervals by silver candle-sticks holding white tapers which were tied in the center by narrow green satin ribbon holding a spray of valley lilies.

—Impy the Chipmunk.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel had o'clock dinner, complimenting Trans chuckled many times over the memory of how Impy the black Chipmunk and them another scare. If I can keep them away for a while, they may for Mu Phi Epsilon get all about these nuts by the time they are ripe. The fewer there are to take them, the better."

It was only a day or two later that Chatterer, going over for a look at the nut-trees, spied Impy and Mrs. Impy heading in the same direction. Chatterer grinned. Then he hastily hid where he could jump out right in front of Impy and Mrs. Impy.

"I wonder if Chatterer will be over this morning," he heard little here this morn Mrs. Impy say.

"I hope he's there right this min-ute," declared Impy. "I'll show him who owns those nuts. Yes, sir, I'll show him!"

Chatterer almost chuckled aloud. However, he didn't quite. He waited a moment more and then snarling and threatening all sorts of dreadful things, he dashed out right in front of Impy and Mrs. Impy. He fully expected to see them take to their little legs as fast as they could go. He wasn't at all prepared for what did happen. There was a rush and a little black bundle of fury struck Chatterer broadside and actually knocked him right over. In a second he was on his feet again, but he wasn't chuckling. No, sir, he wasn't chuckling! There wasn't a chuckle left in him. He was Chatterer almost chuckled aloud. sir, he wasn't chuckling! There wasn't a chuckle left in him. He was simply angry through and through. He started after Impy, for it was Impy who had struck him. But he hadn't reached Impy, who was waiting for him and not running away at all, when once more he was knocked over.

Of course, it was little Mrs. Impy who had hit him this time. Once more Chatterer scrambled to his feet and now he was in a great rage. Yes, sir. the was in a great rage. He whirled and started for Mrs. Impy. The instant he turned he was knocked over again. This time it was Impy. "Who owns the nuts?" snarled Chatterer is no coward. He fought Chatterer is no coward. He fought and he fought hard. Had he had only one to fight he probably would have won the battle, but two proved to be one to many. It wasn't long before Chatterer actually was in flight. Yes, sir, he was in flight. He was running away. All he could think of was getting away from those Chipmunks. They were two little fighting furies. Chatterer forgot all his boasting. Just then he didn't care who had those nuts.

Impy and Mrs. Impy followed Chat-Impy and ars. Impy followed Char-terer only a short distance. Then they returned to the nut-trees and boldly climbed up to the lowest branch of one of them. "I wonder what that fellow thinks about these nuts now,"

"I don't care what he thinks about the nuts. I wonder what he thinks about us," said Mrs. Impy. If they could have known it, Chatterer thought plenty.

Industrial Girls Present Programs.

Present Programs.

Every industrial girl in the city was invited to the Y. W. C. A. Friday evening when the fall program was introduced in a unique way. Miss Carrie Lour Allgood, industrial secretary, with Mrs. Emmett Quinn, member of the board of directors, has planned varied group interests which include crafts, dancing, swimming, ready-writing, sewing and drama. Taking part in the program were Miss Nannie Burwell Crow, director of health education at the Y, who led the gymnasium games and gave a short talk on "Positive Health;" Miss Margaret Oelson and Miss Louie Webb, leaders of the Y Rainbow Club, who entertained with specialty numbers in tap-dancing; Miss Inez Davis, Miss Sally Cook and Miss Leola Young, who put on a stunt advising the study of English and good reading, which will be under the supervision this year of Miss Mary Ellis. Miss Virginia McGarrah completed this group by giving a short discussion of poetry and creative writing. rision this year of Miss Mary Ellis. Miss Virginia McGarrah completed this group by giving a short discussion of poetry and creative writing.

Miss Raemonde Wilson directed a skit showing the dancing classes conducted at the Y. Miss Helen Respess, swimming instructor, gave a demonstration of swimming, assisted by Miss Mary Kennedy and Miss Margaret Oelson. The drama classes, instructed by Mrs. A. Worth Hobby, gave a short playlet featuring Miss Mary Bales and Miss Louie Webb. Fall work will feature crafts, which are under the direction of Miss Ruth Bradley, Miss Helen Zigenfuss, Miss Annie Loyd Liggin and Mrs. George Allgood. It is the plan to have the entire administration building, 37 Auburn avenue, opened to industrial girls only on each Monday evening.

Members of the S. I. S. P. Club were entertained at supper Tuesday evening in the Y club rooms and enjoyed a talk by Miss Eller Page Tucker who is executive secretary of the League of Women Voters.

The Old Glory Club, under the leadership of Miss Jane Cagle, met Tuesday evening and plans and activities for the winter were discussed. Miss Ruth Ludeking, business girls secretary, has been making valuable contacts with representative business and professional women of the city and is making plans for the installation of many new members in the Y clubs.

The Key to the Mystery.

To Meet Today.

The measurements in the Ritual must refer to a spot to which the rest of the document alluded. If I could find that spot we should be on the way to discovering the secret of the Ritual.

It mentioned an oak and an elm. As to the oak, there could be no question. Right in front of the house there stood one of the most magnificent trees I have ever seen. 'That was there when your Ritual was drawn up,' I said to Musgrave as we passed the tree. Here was one of my fixed points

she was so very clearly a woman of the world that it seemed a strange taste to bury herself in a country village.

In the clear light of her drawing room I had an opportunity of observing her closely for the first time.

She was a very tall woman. Her hair was gold with a tinge of red in it. Her eyebrows and eyelashes were dark, whether by art or by nature I could not decide. If she was, as I thought, made up, it was done very artistically. There was something sphinxlike about her face when it was in repose, and she had the most curious eyes I have ever seem—they were almost golden in shade.

Her clothes were perfect and she had all the ease of manner of a well bred woman, and yet there was something about her that was incongruous and baffling. You felt that she was an mystery. The word Griselda had used occurred to me—sinister. Absurd, of course, and yel—was it so absurd? The thought sprang unbidden into my mind: "This woman would stick at nothing."

Our talk was on most normal lines—pictures, books, old churches. Yet somehow I got very strongly the impression that there was something clearly the pression that there was something to quite a different muture that Mrs. Lestrange wanted to say to me.

I caught her eyes on me once or twice, looking at me with a curious hesitancy, as though she were unable to make up her mind. She kept the talk, I noticed, strictly to impersonal subjects. She made no mention of a husband, or of friends or relations.

But all the time there was that strange urgent appeal in her glance. It seemed to say: "Shall I tell you? It wan to. Can't you help me?"

On an impulse I said:

"If there is anything I can do—"

Griselda paused a minute and then said, with a quick sidelong glance at me. "You do believe me don't you? I mean, that there's nothing between Lawrence and me."

"My dear Griselda," I said surpised. "Of course."

My wife came across and kissed me. "I wish you weren't so terribly easy to deceive, Len. You'd believe me whatever I said."

"What they need," said Griselda, "is a little immorality in their lives. Then they wouldn't be so busy looking for it in other people's."

And on this she left the room, and glacing at my watch I hurried out to pay some visits that ought to have been made earlier in the day.

The Wednesday evening service was sparsely attended as usual but when I came out through the church, after disrobing in the vestry, it was empty save for a woman who stood staring up at one of our windows. We have some rather fine old stained glass, and indeed the church little is well worth looking at. She turned at my' footsteps, and I saw that it was Mrs. Lestrange.

We both hesitated a moment and then I said:

"I hep you like our little church."

Her voice was pleasant, low, yet very distinct, with a clear cut enunciation. She added:

"Im so sorry to have missed your wife yesterday."

Bankers, Editors, Agents | FORMER ATLANTA MAN Plan Farm Aid Program DROWNS IN OCHULGEE

GAINESVILLE, Ga., Sept. 26.—
Bankers, county farm and demonstration agents and newspaper editors, representing Section 1 of the Georgia bankers' agricultural committee, met at the community house here Friday to discuss a well-balanced farm program for this territory. Counties included in this section are: Hall, White, Habersham. Stephens, Rabun, Union, Towns and Lumpkin. J. N. Rogers, local banker and chairman of the division, presided.

After discussion from various representatives, resolutions were adopted authorizing the appointment of a committee of five to co-operate with the State College of Agriculture in working out a practical, simple farm program. The resolutions called for:

(1) A self-sustained farm producing food and feed crops sufficient for the family and live stock where practicable; (2) encouragement of economic production of all crops and live stock would prove popular with other bankers and prove popular with other bankers and prove popular with other bankers are constructed by the provention of the demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Miss Lula Edwards, district home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demonstration agent; Mrs. Lella Mise, state agent for home demo

Viewpoint of Bankers.

Speaking in behalf of the bankers,
Mr. Kimsey said:

"We have heard diversification p.eached for some time, but up until this time, no feasible plan of operation has been submitted bankers whereby they could lend their hearty support to the movement." He expressed the opinion that the plan of the Georgia Bankers Association would prove popular with other bankers of the state and that the movement would result in a greatly improved farming situation throughout the entire state.

HICKMAN, Ky., Sept. 26.—(A)—
"Old Billy" is dead, and the juvenile population of Hickman is in mourning. And "old billy" died as he had lived, trying to do a good deed.
"Old Billy" was a sort of a "community horse," and almost every child in Hickman had been on his back at one time or another. The other day Mildred and Catherine Rogers were riding Billy and Louise Cohn, a little playmate, was on another horse. The other horse ran away.

Urged by his riders, "Old Billy" started in pursuit. He lost his footing, however, and went down in a heap. Mildred led him home, where veterinarians pronounced his neck broken, and said only the horse's fondness of Mildred had enabled it to walk home.

Fifty Years of Hardware History...

Chapter IV-

From the beginning the King Hardware Company has had visions of better things. The fight has not been for bigger things alone, but for better things in business. A sustained effort has been made to keep the business on the highest possible plane. Not all the excellent things dreamed about have been reached, but there is a consciousness that in looking back over the past years no unfair advantage has been taken of anyone, and the business has grown.

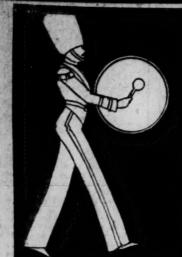

Possibly some of this growth has taken place because it deserved to grow. No advertisement by King Hardware Company has ever appeared in the Sunday papers, and it is hoped that as long as the name lasts none will ever appear. No pistols or pistol cartridges have been sold, though there are almost as many calls for them as for nails.

It has been, and more strongly than ever is today, the aim of King Hardware Company to:

- 1. Sell at as low price as can be made in
- 2. Sell merchandise of high standard and proven quality.
- 3. Make prompt deliveries free. 4. Extend credit courtesies, charging goods
- 5. Put branch stores in convenient locations 6. Supply buyers and salesmen experienced and trained to help customers get the most in utility, suitability, durability and pleasure from merchandise they pur-to responsible people at cash prices.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26 .- (A)-Flatlay nearly motionless after touching low-mocord figures unequaled before in the experience of most traders here. Virtually the sole demand for future deliveries of wheat and other cereals during much of the day was from previous sellers who were in a position to collect a profit. The extraordinary standstill was reached pending action by board of trade directors which came after business had ended for the day and which took the form of an official assurance to Secretary of Agriculture Hyde that meass would be instituted to end sell-of grain future contracts here by Closing quotations on wheat were unsteady, 2c-2 3-4c a bushel lower than yesterday's finish. Corn closed 1 1-8-2 5-8c down, oats 1 1-4-1 1-2c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of $1.00.

back of $1.00.

Lowest prices of the day and for many years were reached just before the final gong cleared the crowd of brokers out of the wheat pit. From the outset, prices of wheat had shown a downward trend, which soon became pronounced and which at no stage gave signs of much likelihood of being gave signs of much likelihood of being altered until traders could get new light on what to expect about problems akin to recent heavy selling operations here by the Russian government. A further depressing influence was continued attention being given to official references concerning prospective lower prices for wheat. prospective lower prices for wheat.

Explanations which were circulated. however, that the wheat price downfrom current quotations but from the pool reports, though, about further of Russian wheat offerings were disconcerting, and so too in France would be 40,000,000 bushels more than of late has been looked for. On the other hand, word that Canada had disposed of 2,500,000 bushels of Corn and oats prices melted away as a consequence of weakness of the wheat market. Despite higher quotations on hogs, provisions declined with cereals.

December contract, or 15 points below yesterday's closing quotations.

Closing prices were the lowest of the day and season so far, with the market barely steady at net declines of 11 to 19 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 2 to 5 points under overnight selling orders which appeared to come partly from the south. There was considerable covering and trade buying, but it was supplied by a continuation of the southern selling, together with further near-month liquidation and scattered selling by local or Wall Asso Dry Gds.

The weakness in grain and the easier ruling of the stock market were contributing factors on the decline, which carried the price of new October contracts down to 10.28 and March to 10.80 in the late trading.

Reports of poor prospects for a top crop in Texas and somewhat less favorable reports from some sections of the eastern belt appeared to have very little effect on sentiment and traders seemed to be more interestid in the development of trade conditions.

Session Proves Most Active Since Activity of Late June

BY JOHN L. COOLEY, Associated Press Financial Writer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.-(A)-After fluttering nervously until early after-noon, the stock market went into a fresh decline in the final hour today under the impetus of large selling or-ders. It was the most active session since late June, for sales aggregated through the noon hour, although little attempt was made to follow up the advances. Acute weakness of Chrysler early in the afternoon was followed by heavy offerings of the other motor shares, and by the start of the final hour the market had broken sharply. There was enough late covering to keep a majority of closing prices off the bottom, but in the meantime the favorites had broken through their previous lows for this strenuous week of bearish activity.

Mild optimism was the tenor of the weekly trade reviews. Dun's said reports from different sections of the country "reveal a moderately better trend," although individual lines continued to disclose irregularity. The composite sentiment, said the sunnary was "more cheerful." Brad-low Close.

street's noted numerous cross sections in general business, but asserted that the advance of the season had in general 'made for a further moderate advance in fall trade.'

The bond market was strong. Prices there, it was pointed out, are fast reaching the point where yields will be so small that investment funds, based on past experience, will be forced into high-grade common stocks in order to find employment. Since such a movement inevitably accompanies swings in the security price cycle, and Wall Street sees no reason why the old rule should not apply this time.

this time.

The glutted condition of the money

The glutted condition of the money markets is doubtless a bearish influence, for the enormous supply of cash seeking an outlet forcefully reflects the absence of a demand for credit. This, however, is rather the short-term viewpoint, for a maintenance of cheap money—and the federal reserve apparently intends to keep it cheap—will eventually be a first aid to business when the recovery does definitely quicken.

NEW LOWS FOR SEASON

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—(P)—New low record prices for the season have been established in the cotton futures market here during the past week under selling, much of which has been attributed to increased hedge ing from the south. Trade interests have been buyers on scale down orders and the market showed considerable resistance to declines during the earlier part of the week, but the selling later became a little more selling later became a later became later became a little more selling later became a little more selling later became a li of this season unless the price in the meantime advanced to or above the purchase price.

There was also favorable comment on an announcement that the federal intermediate credit banks were not only ready but eager to make their facilities available to the cotton growers to enable an orderly marketing of the crop. The demand promoted by these figures, however, was readily supplied on moderate rallies and toward the end of the week most of the buying except for occasional spurts of covering, seemed to come from the trade on scale down orders.

The glinnings reports prior to September 16 were slightly below expectations, but this was attributed to unfavorable weather earlier in the month and was without more than a momentary effect on the market. There did not appear to be much speculation as to the probable showing of the end-September crop indication figures and the possibility of late season changes in crop estimates, seems to be attracting less attention among local traders than the rate of marketing in the south and the development of trade conditions.

Reports from the domestic cloth markets and Manchester have been considered rather more encouraging than otherwise, but the action of the markets and Manchester have been considered rather more encouraging than otherwise, but the action of the grain and stock markets and the reports of unsettled political conditions in various directions abroad have probably had a restricting effect on speculative or investment purchases of cotton.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.-(P)an unobtrusive corner of the senoffice building a full-fledged benu-nte pifice building a full-fledged beauty parlor today is open for business. It is not there in anticipation of a great influx of women senators, nor has it been brought about by any softening of the rugged statesmen who occupy the building.

Two hundred women employes of the senatorial offices waged a lengthy battle to have it added to the building's equipment. By way of compromise with masculine conservatism a barber shop for the male clerks was established next door.

The winning argument was a claim of added efficiency for the women clerks who assert they now can save for work the time formerly spent in going downtown for needed facials. As a condition to its existence the beauty shop must be self-sustaining, adding no burden to the taxpayers.

To find room for the parlor, a former stockroom in the basement was converted. Unfortunately the basement is a favorite haunt for rats, but Charles E. Alden, custodian of ment is a favorite haunt for rats, but Charles E. Alden, custodian of the building has added a sharpshooter the numerous traps, and is confi-nt the rodents can be kept away from the beauty seekers.

In the corridor of the Colosseum Tarzan sum-coned Lukedi and a chief of one of the outer vil-ages. "Go to the Porta Praetoria," he said, "and ask Appius Applosus to pass you through the city wall as a favor to Maximus Praeclarus. Then lead the warriors of the outer villages into the city to the palace of Caesar."

Warning his followers to ailence, Tarsan led them toward the barracks of the Colosseum guard where were quartered the men of Praeclarus' own cohort. Gayat, Zutho, and Goyad-and their three fellow apes. To the blacks these apes appeared to the legionaries whom he had until recently commanded. Mutiny had long been rife in the ranks and now they welcomed the opportunity to follow the young patrician, whom they loved, to the very gates of the palace of Caesar, even if failure meant death as rebels.

plosus would not join the revolt and throw it open to the warriors of the outer villages. Then he joined Tarzan, who led his followers toward the shead lighting the way.

Praeclarus dispatched a detachment under an officer to take the Porta Praetoria, if Appius Ap-
